

Strider Report – Sheep and Big Birds

Party: Haru (me), Widdle, Mirea, Orchid

I met some new Striders today when we started our trip east to the goblin camp. Their names are Widdle, Mirea, and Orchid. They all seem really cool. I still think Vivian is cooler though.

We traveled for a few hours until we reached the goblin camp. There wasn't much left there anymore, only a broken building and some ruins. On the way, we met a sheep-herd man who was looking for missing sheep. He said he lost around five after counting them many times. He looked very worried, so we told him we would help.

When we searched the camp, I saw something white and fluffy inside the broken building. I thought it was a sheep, so I ran in right away. Mirea stopped me, and then Widdle rushed in instead. It turned out it wasn't a sheep at all, but a big feather bird with a beak, a grifon or something like that.

I tried to climb it because I thought maybe I could ride it, I have some flying experience with Vivian after all. It did not go well. I failed a few times, but I kept trying. While we were dealing with it, a second bird arrived behind Orchid. We defeated the first one. The second one landed, and I managed to jump on top of it. It flew very high, but I lost my balance and it grabbed me with its claws and carried me back to the broken building.

At first I thought it was dangerous, but it actually showed me its nest with baby birds inside. They were pecking me, but I think they were just hungry. We knocked the mother bird unconscious so it would stop attacking, and I fed the babies while she was asleep. After that, we left them alone.

We kept searching and found sheep tracks leading south. We followed them for about two hours and found three of the missing sheep grazing in a field. We planned to surround them. Orchid used earth magic to help keep them from running away, and together we managed to capture them safely.

After a short rest, we brought the sheep back to the sheep-herd. He was very happy and thanked us many times for returning some of his sheep.

Mirea also talked to the sheep, which was very funny. She said some sheep like tall grass and some like short grass. I don't know why I found that so funny.

They're just little fluffy creatures with very strong opinions about grass.

Animals are weird.

I like them.
